What is the Emerald Ash Borer?

The Emerald Ash Borer is a beetle native to Asia, which has been detected in many states and Canada. This invasive beetle has been responsible for the loss of millions of ash trees in North America. In addition to spreading by natural means, Emerald Ash Borer can be transported to new areas in infested firewood, timber, and nursery stock.

New infestations are difficult to detect, as damage to the tree may not be apparent for up to three years. Symptoms of an infestation can include branch dieback in the upper crown, excessive epicormic branching on the tree trunk, and vertical bark splits. Woodpecker damage is sometimes apparent.

If you think you have found emerald ash borer, contact one of these offices in your area:

- State Department of Agriculture
- State Forestry
- Natural Resource Agency
- Cooperative Extension Office
- USDA Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service
- U.S. Forest Service
